

VIRGINIA PENINSULA REGIONAL JAIL

Notice of Cyber Incident

Virginia Peninsula Regional Jail (“VPRJ”), like many organizations nationwide, was recently the victim of a cybersecurity incident. This notice provides information about how this incident may have affected personal information and, as a preventative measure, provides steps that you can take to protect your personal information.

What Happened?

On or about July 14, 2026, VPRJ discovered disruptions to our computer systems. We quickly determined that we were the victim of a ransomware incident. VPRJ immediately took steps to stop the incident and engaged outside cybersecurity experts to assist and investigate this event. Thankfully, this incident did not disrupt the safety or security of VPRJ’s facilities. Our systems are currently secure, and operations have returned to normal.

Due to the nature of ransomware, it is possible that personal information may have been accessed or acquired by the perpetrators of this incident.

What Information Was Involved?

VPRJ recognizes that we are entrusted with many types of personal information. Data may vary by individual but could include the following types of personal information: names, addresses, dates of birth, driver’s license numbers or state identification numbers issued in lieu of a driver’s license, Social Security numbers, and/or limited health information that VPRJ uses to maintain the safety of our facilities. Examples of medical information the jail might collect about an inmate include vaccination status, certain health conditions, or the need for health accommodations. Although VPRJ has no evidence of data misuse associated with this incident, it is possible that personal data was implicated.

What We Are Doing

VPRJ has contacted and is cooperating with state and federal law enforcement, including the FBI’s Cyber Crimes Division, the Department of Homeland Security’s Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency (“CISA”), and the Cyber Fusion Center of the Virginia State Police. VPRJ is supporting all law enforcement investigations to bring the perpetrators to justice.

We take our obligation to safeguard personal information very seriously. VPRJ has implemented new cybersecurity safeguards and we are continuing to evaluate additional actions to strengthen our network security in the face of an ever-evolving cyber threat landscape.

Out of an abundance of caution, VPRJ has arranged to provide free identity monitoring services for concerned individuals who would like to receive additional protections. If you wish to obtain identity monitoring, please email us at support@vprj.org.

This information provides practical steps you can take to help protect yourself, including recommendations from the Federal Trade Commission (“FTC”) regarding identity theft protection and details on placing a fraud alert or a security freeze on your credit file.

We sincerely regret any concern this incident may cause you.

When you receive your credit reports, review them carefully. Look for accounts or creditor inquiries that you did not initiate or do not recognize. Look for inaccurate information, such as a home address and Social Security number. If you see anything you do not understand, call the credit reporting agency at the telephone number on the report.

Notify Law Enforcement of Suspicious Activity

You should promptly report any fraudulent activity or any suspected incidence of identity theft to proper law enforcement authorities, including local law enforcement, your state attorney general, and the Federal Trade Commission (FTC). To file a complaint with the FTC, use the below contact information or website.

The Federal Trade Commission

600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20580
1-877-ID-THEFT (1-877-438-4338)
TTY: 1-866-653-4261
www.IdentityTheft.gov

Complaints filed with the FTC will be added to the FTC's Identity Theft Data Clearinghouse, which is a database made available to law enforcement agencies. If you detect any suspicious activity on an account, you should promptly notify the financial institution or company which the account is maintained.

Credit Freezes

You have the right to put a security freeze, also known as a credit freeze, on your credit file, so that no new credit can be opened in your name without the use of a Personal Identification Number (PIN) that is issued when you initiate a freeze. A credit freeze is designed to prevent potential creditors from accessing your credit report without your consent. If you place a credit freeze, potential creditors and other third parties will not be able to access your credit report unless you temporarily lift the freeze. Therefore, using a credit freeze may delay your ability to obtain credit. Pursuant to federal law, you cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on your credit report. Should you wish to place a credit freeze, please contact all three major consumer reporting agencies listed below.

You must separately place a credit freeze on your credit file at each credit reporting agency. The following information should be included when requesting a credit freeze:

- 1) Your full name, with middle initial and any suffixes;
- 2) Your Social Security number;
- 3) Your date of birth (month, day, and year);
- 4) Your current address and previous addresses for the past five (5) years;
- 5) A copy of your state-issued identification card (such as a state driver's license or military ID);
- 6) Proof of your current residential address (such as a current utility bill or account statement);
and
- 7) Other personal information as required by the applicable credit reporting agency.

If you request a credit freeze online or by phone, then the credit reporting agencies have one (1) business day after receiving your request to place a credit freeze on your credit file report. If you request a lift of the credit freeze online or by phone, then the credit reporting agency must lift the freeze within one (1) hour. If you request a credit freeze or lift of a credit freeze by mail, then the credit agency must place or lift the credit freeze no later than three (3) business days after getting your request. More information regarding credit freezes can be obtained from the FTC and the major consumer reporting agencies.

Fraud Alerts

You also have the right to place an initial or extended fraud alert on your file at no cost. An initial fraud alert will stay on your credit file one (1) year. The alert informs creditors of possible fraudulent activity within your report and requires the creditor to verify your identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting 7 years. Should you wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any one of the three major consumer reporting agencies listed above. The agency you contact will then contact the other two. More information regarding fraud alerts can be obtained from the FTC and the major consumer reporting agencies.

Monitor Your Personal Health Information

If applicable to your situation, we recommend that you regularly review the explanation of benefits statement that you receive from your insurer. If you see any service that you believe you did not receive, please contact your insurer at the number on the statement. If you do not receive the regular explanation of benefits statements, contact your provider and request them to send such statements following the provision of services in your name or number. You may want to order copies of your credit reports and check for any bills that you do not recognize. If you find anything suspicious, call the credit reporting agency at the phone number on the report. Keep a copy of this notice for your records in case of future problems with your records.
